MARK BOWIE

Join nature photographer Mark Bowie, a specialist on night photography, for his spectacular multimedia presentation "Night over the North Country." Some of Nature's most spectacular beauty and solitude are reserved for the Adirondack landscape at night. Nighttime drops a cloak of anonymity over the land. Above, the indigo sky is dotted with multi-colored stars, brilliantly beaming planets, and distant constellations. Stars wander parabolic paths across the sky, and the moon launches itself into its trajectory. At night, the camera allows us to record phenomena we are physically incapable of seeing. Long exposures capture objects in motion, creating metaphors for the passage of time and the seasons. People and the wildlife are creatures of the night, their behavior impacted by it and entwined with it. Come experience the unimaginable beauty, mystery, awe and wonder of the Adirondacks at night.

RAFFLE: Mark Bowie has donated a 25" x 17" matted and framed photo to be raffled off for the benefit of the Adirondack Mountain Club. This year's photo is from his "Light of Midnight" project and has a framed value in excess of $350.00. Proceeds from the raffle will go to the ADK Wilderness Legal Defense Fund which enables ADK to pursue legal actions to protect our precious natural resources. See www.markbowie.com.
